Bold Partridge

Mr. and Mrs. F. Soder of Vulcan have a problem. Through the years they've probably had their home yard over-run by children, bicycles, maybe horses and surely dogs. This sort of thing can happen to anybody and there's a cure for it — either phone the parents or the police.

However last Sunday morning the folks looked out to see 12 partridge grouped around a puddle of water in the lawn. And they're out of season. This is the first time this variety of visitor has called so close to the Soder's.

Mr. Soder cannot account for the boldness of the game bird except that possibly the lack of sloughs in the country has cut down their water supply. They picked a safe couple as hosts this time but forcing their attention on others more table-minded might be stretching a good thing too far, even at this time of year.

BRITAIN'S NEW "RED TOP" MISSILE—Red Top is one of Britain's latest fighter-borne air-to-air guided missiles. It has been designed by de Havilland to intercept and destroy the latest types of aircraft over a very wide altitude and speed range. This is the logical successor to the Firestreak missile — now the primary armament carried by fighter aircraft of the Royal Air Force and the Royal Navy. The new missile uses a heat-sensitive infra-red detector in its guidance system. This was developed from the Firestreak system and now necessitates a glass nose of eight optically flat plates. This and the missile's proximity fuse means that even a near miss by a Red Top would ensure target destruction. As it is, this system is inherently accurate and virtually impossible to jam and so deflect the missile from its true homing course.

Duck and Goose Hunting Season Opens Sept. 11

Duck and goose hunting season in Southern Alberta opens on Monday, Sept. 11, and last day of the season is Wednesday, Dec. 13. Due to the early drought, there was a poor hatch of ducks in the south this year and ducks are expected to be somewhat scarce. Harvest will likely be pretty well completed before the migratory flocks make their appearance.

Daily limit of ducks this year is five and possession limit is ten. The same limits apply to geese.

The upland bird season in Southern Alberta is again a split season. The season on Ringneck Pheasant, Hungarian Partridge, Sharp Tailed Grouse, Ruffed Grouse and Spruce Grouse opens on Saturday, Oct. 7, and closes Tuesday, Oct. 31, then re-opens on Saturday, Nov. 11 and closes finally on Saturday, Dec. 9. Daily limits on grouse and partridge are five of each and on cock pheasant the daily limit is three. Possession limit on grouse is 40, on partridge 40 and on pheasant 24. Hunting of upland birds is not lawful until 8:00 a.m. each day.

GAME REGULATION CHANGES INCLUDE DRINKING CLAUSE

The following are some of the changes in the Alberta Fish and Game Act this year.

The section covering the carrying of loaded firearms in a vehicle has been tightened. A loaded firearm is now interpreted as one carrying a shell in either chamber, breech or magazine. Clip load magazines containing shells must be removed when the firearm is being carried in a vehicle.

It is now legal to carry a loaded firearm while on horseback, however.

There are more limitations against erecting signs claiming an area as a game preserve, etc.

The scarlet coat or jacket worn by big game hunters must have long, scarlet sleeves.

No person under the age of 14 may obtain a licence or permit to hunt without the application being made in writing by their parent or guardian, and having acquired the necessary permission they then must be accompanied by a parent or guardian whenever hunting.

A new section states that no person shall hunt, tag, shoot at, wound or kill any big game or game bird while intoxicated or under the influence of a narcotic drug or while his ability to hunt is impaired by alcohol or a drug.

A hotel or restaurant keeper or caterer must obtain a permit before serving big game or game birds to guests, boarders or customers.

The section of the Act concerning qualifications for hunting on private land has been reduced to the one requirement of securing permission.

The prohibition of the use of bait for big game or fur-bearing animals includes bear.

The words "grazing lease" are added to the interpretation of "unoccupied Crown lands."

The words "searching for" are added to the interpretation of the word "hunt."

A larger portion of the northern part of the province and a strip extending the length of the western boundary is included in an area known as "the green area" and in this area hunters of upland game birds must wear the required scarlet clothing.

Conditions under which the Minister may withhold a game licence from any person are strengthened by eliminating the clause that a person must have first been convicted under the Criminal Code of an offence relating to the discharging of a firearm.

It is prohibited that anyone other than the owner or occupant of a dwelling shall discharge any firearm within 200 yards of an occupied dwelling.

If a licence is cancelled because of a conviction then cancellation shall remain in force for one year for that species of game.

Certain sections of the Act have been made more consistent by increasing fines to a minimum of $50.00 in connection with big game infractions and a minimum of $25.00 for infractions relating to game birds.

A "resident" is defined as a Canadian citizen or British subject or one who has completed three years of continuous residence in Canada immediately prior to date of application for a licence, having resided in Alberta for the previous six months, or who is a bona fide occupant of at least one quarter section of land in Alberta.

A resident may also mean a company that has occupied a place of business in Alberta for six months preceding application for a licence.

These are only some of the amendments now in effect.

A person with charm is one who can make another feel that both of them are pretty wonderful people.

The odd male shopper got thrown in with the multitude of ladies going the rounds of the new IGA for the first time. Taken at the three check-out counters, the back of co-owner Charles Northcott can be seen at the right of the picture while Charles Boutland is assisting in the background.

"I MADE 4 MONTHS SALARY
DURING MY VACATIONby building my own MUTTART
Ready-To-Assemble Home"

From every walk of life more and more families are realizing tremendous savings by building their own Muttart Home. As this satisfied customer states:

"I never thought erecting a Muttart Home could be so easy and profitable too. When I first thought of buying a Muttart Home it was solely on the merits of having a short-term mortgage rather than paying 25 or 30 years with interest. I soon discovered how with every bit of labor I put into this home my equity rose till finally I had ended up with a handsome gain."

*Original of this and other testimonials may be inspected on request at the Main Office.

This Fall BUY and APPLY ELEPHANT BRAND Fertilizers

IT PAYS TO FALL FERTILIZE WITH NITROGEN on Stubble and Grassland

Your soil loses valuable nitrogen with each crop. Replace this essential plant food, with Elephant Brand HIGH NITROGEN Fertilizers.

INCREASE PROFITS FROM STUBBLE LAND

Summerfallow is expensive. Reduce your summerfallow acreage by applying Elephant Brand High Nitrogen Fertilizers this fall. Overcome lack of low yields on stubble lands. Less summer-fallow means more profits. Crops on stubble land need phosphate, too. For phosphate apply Elephant Brand 11-48-0 or 16-48-0 at seeding time.

MORE MONEY FROM GRASSLAND

You save money when cattle can be pastured weeks earlier. You make money when hayland yields are doubled. Elephant Brand High Nitrogen Fertilizers on your grassland means more quality feed — more milk — more money from every acre.

FALL APPLICATION OF ELEPHANT BRAND FERTILIZERS IS GOOD FARM PRACTICE

- * You usually have more time.
- * Weather in the fall is usually more favourable.
- * When spring arrives, the plant food from fall applied fertilizer is in the root zone ready for vigorous early growth.
- * When you fertilize hayland in the fall you are more certain of moisture to carry the fertilizer down to the root zone.
- * Fall application on stubble and sod breaking promotes rapid decay of crop residue.

— VULCAN UNIT E.M.O. —

The question of man's exposure to fallout from nuclear tests comes to the fore once again. Much disagreement has been publicized about the biological damage which might be imposed on humans by the additional radiation released by recent test explosions.

Dr. G. M. Shrum, head of the Department of Physics, University of B.C., says in the August E.M.O. Digest:

"This increase in radiation is so small that up to the present it has been beyond the ability of biological scientists to measure any increase in toxicity and hazard.

"Unfortunately many people are not prepared to wait for the biological scientists to gather enough information to make reliable estimates on any increase in the hazards to man. Instead they base their objections and fears upon the moral and political implications of unknown biological hazards."

IN MEMORIAM

WEBBER— In loving memory of Thomas Webber, who died Sept. 9, 1959.

Sweet are the memories silently kept,
Of one we loved and will never forget.
—Ever remembered by his wife and family. 6-1x

CUTFORTH— In memory of our loving mother, Eva Cutforth, who passed away Sept. 5, 1957.

Years have passed since that sad day,
When one we loved was called away;
God took her home, it was His will,
But in our hearts, she liveth still.

—Ever remembered by all her family. 6-1p

HANNA— In memory of John C. Hanna, who passed away Sept. 9, 1957.

Four years ago we found but sorrow,
And all we could see was grief;
Now, understanding this is tomorrow
We find ourselves placing a wreath.

On one's grave we loved so dear,
Yes, we still find us shedding tears
Yet, he rests in peace, and still is loved
By his many friends and his family

Who have not forgotten he is above.
—Ever remembered by his beloved wife, daughter and family. 6-1p

SALES—In ever loving memory of our dear son and brother, Rfn. George Sales, who died for his country Sept. 12, 1944, and who is buried at Calais, France.

Softly the leaves of memory fall,
Gently we gather and treasure them all,
Unseen, unheard, he is always near,
Still loved, still missed and very dear.

—Always remembered and sadly missed by Dad, Mom, Lorne and Lyle.

There is no guarantee that those who patronize the new Vulcan clinic, shown in these photos, will emerge miraculously cured of ailments and free of bills which must accompany such treatment. However they can be assured that the neatest, most pleasant surroundings possible have been made available to them in their hour of woe.

In the top picture is a view of the waiting room leading from the entrance vestibule. Smart modern colors are emphasized in the matching of wood panelled walls of mahogany, on one side, cement brick on the other done in an off-white shade and lounge chairs in a variety of blending colors.

In the photo below the clinic staff are caught during one of the rare moments when they are able to assemble together. From left to right are Dr. M. E. Koziol, Mrs. Margaret Clayton, Dr. A. D. Tompkins and Mrs. Lorean Horne.

The reception desk of the new Vulcan Clinic, presided over by Mrs. Margaret Clayton is pictured above. The walls are done in wood panelling in a golden ash shade and the business office is roomy and faces the waiting room giving access to those on appointments.

New Vulcan IGA Supermarket Strengthens "Shop At Home" Theme

The birth of the IGA in Vulcan became official on Wednesday morning, Aug. 30, with opening ceremonies conducted by M. R. Morrison, representing the town, and the new manager, Charlie Boutland. The pair is pictured above just after the ribbon-cutting ceremony held outside the main door of the store.

Vulcan's newest food store addition, the IGA Supermarket, which opened its doors last Wednesday, is taking its place along with a growing list of new businesses to town in recent years and bringing to the public more and more the awareness of the growth of this area and the city services that are offered here in a quiet, friendly town atmosphere.

It must be admitted in the case of the IGA though, that since the brief words of town representative, Councillor M. R. Morrison, in officially opening the store, the atmosphere has been on the hectic side as crowds of shoppers from town and all surrounding areas have toured the aisles and availed themselves of the many bargain items offered and looked over the beautifully styled modern store facilities designed for their convenience and pleasure.

A combination of businessmen and business events most of them with local flavor, have been associated in this enterprise. Stanley Scales, rancher and former businessman of Vulcan, built the store and medical clinic, a part of the same building, on the site of the former Vulcan Motor Products garage and which was earlier, his own Scales Motors Garage.

The demolition of existing garage was carried out early in March as a Lions Club community project and construction commenced almost immediately with Munro Construction of Picture Butte as contractors.

Owners of the store venture are two well known Vulcan men, Charlie Northcott and Charlie Boutland, the latter being local manager. Both businessmen were most recently tied in with the IGA Store at Brooks which Charlie Northcott still heads. IGA, Independent Grocers Association, one of the largest chain store operations is the supplier and sets and maintains policy and integrated the local operation into their national picture designed to give back the best, most up-to-date product at the lowest cost.

The advent of the IGA to Vulcan became definite with the closing out of the Fulton Brothers Red & White Store just a week ago. The Red & White history goes back to pre-war days, one owner at that time being Norm Lockhart, now of Calgary. Roy and Charlie Fulton were next operators of the store and through the years their friendly courteous disposition and efficient staff — one of whom was Charlie Boutland — yielded them a top position among food-handling centres in Vulcan. The IGA took over the Red & White stock and offered positions to Red & White staff in the new store. And so although the business is new with a new supplying body, and although the building is new, many old Red & White customers will feel at home with familiar faces greeting them from behind counters.

Entire frontage of the business block, including IGA and the Medical Clinic, is 67 feet, 42 feet of which is supermarket. A 20-car clean cement parking area is to the west of the store and the store itself, built of cement brick construction, is painted green on the exterior and a row of 13 lights inset into the wall and the six foot canopy which fronts the street gives bright night time illumination. Brown brick-work is built into the front of the store and glass window, 40 feet of it, 10 feet high, including 10 feet facing the parking lot, make up the face of the store. The sales area of the store runs back 42 feet giving approximately 3,650 feet to the main store. Extra warehouse space going back 14 feet gives the whole store area 4,242 square feet.

Inside the main door are a string of carts ready for a tour of the fresh fruit and vegetable section along the east wall and to the back of the store, all of it given over to meat department.

The frozen foods section is located along the west wall and running the length of the centre store area are three-tiered shelf "Gondolas" which make up part of the 1500 square feet of shelf space. Two check-out counters are conveniently located near the exit door and a third can be put into use when it is warranted. A pleasant surprise to a heavily burdened customer is the automatic-eye exit door which opens when approached. Adding to the pleasure of the scene is the sound of soft music played through speakers in the store.

The store floor is of grey and green tile in checkered designs and walls are done in a contrasting variety of pastel colors.

Refrigeration is a big feature in this new store and a complete room at the back of the store houses seven separate motors which operate each of the coolers, and meat and vegetable storage units.

Great Barrier Reef along the Northeastern coast of Australia has the largest coral formation in the world.

Packed shelves in perfect neatness and order are shown in the above photo taken just before the crowds moved in for the first time. Adjustable shelves on the three "gondolas" and wide five to six foot aisles are features designed to aid the shoppers' progress. In the background, meat department manager Alan Dick can be seen at one end of his working area. The meat business will be an important phase of the store's operation.

The fresh fruit and vegetables fairly cry out for attention from their display coolers along the north wall of the store. The assortment and price of this fresh-daily greenery is comparable with that offered in the city and is inspected and kept in good quantity at all times. As is the case with the frozen foods and produce departments, a large colorful wall design makes an attractive finishing touch to this popular section of the store.

Well-Known Local Businessmen Bring Supermarket Chain To Vulcan

CHARLES NORTHCOTT

CHARLES BOUTLAND

Two well known businessmen — owners and managers of the IGA Store in Brooks since January 1959 — have extended their operations in the grocery business by opening the new IGA Store in Vulcan. Their talents as grocery store managers will now be divided, with Mr. Boutland operating their jointly-owned new store in Vulcan and Mr. Northcott remaining in Brooks as manager of their store there, in which Mr. Boutland retains his interest.

Charles Boutland was born at Fort Macleod and received his education at Nanton. He has been associated with the retail grocery business for over 30 years, being first employed in a grocery store at Nanton while still a youngster. He later worked at Nagler's in Calgary and at stores in Stettler and Fort Macleod. During the war, he served four years overseas with the Regina Rifles and moved to Vulcan following his discharge at the end of the war. Before becoming associated with Mr. Northcott in the IGA Store at Brooks, Mr. Boutland was employed at the Red & White Store in Vulcan and operated the Vulcan egg grading station. He is a member of the Royal Canadian Legion.

He is married to the former Wilma Hornberger and they have two children, Charles, 11 and Debbie, six.

NATIVE OF DISTRICT

Charles Northcott was born and raised in the Milo district and his first job was at Soby's General Store in Claresholm. In 1934 he opened his own grocery store in Milo, operating it for seven years. He sold out to a co-operative but continued as manager for two years before moving to Vulcan, where he bought out the McLagan and Manson grocery store. He later sold out to Jenkins, but continued his business interest in Vulcan through operation of the Betty Ann ladies wear store, which he still owns and which is managed by Mrs. Northcott.

A past master of Vulcan Masonic Lodge; Mr. Northcott was also a charter member of the Vulcan Lions Club.

Of Mr. and Mrs. Northcott's four children, two, Ronald and Shirley, are married and the youngest two, Larry and Betty Ann, attend school.

Congratulations to I.G.A.

—and to manager Charles Boutland and staff.
